

Coffee Chats & TeaTime Talks™

One of the most significant times in my life was helping my daughter prepare for her wedding day, despite the fact that I knew it meant a great separation of miles between us. From the time she was a little girl we had enjoyed sharing what was going on in our lives over a cup of coffee or tea. Before she entered their tightly packed car, I presented her with a special coffee cup of which I kept a twin. I told her that our chats would still continue, our relationship would grow and we would share the added dimension of being married women.

An equally significant life event for me was when my youngest daughter graduated from college and accepted a job in another state. This too, was a perfect opportunity for me to share a special cup with her. Our unique cups serve as a beautiful reminder to value the time we have spent together and to remember to keep in touch.

My daughters have begun their own coffee chats. And sometimes we do 3-way calling!

Coffee Chats & TeaTime Talks™

One of the most significant times in my life was helping my daughter prepare for her wedding day, despite the fact that I knew it meant a great separation of miles between us. From the time she was a little girl we had enjoyed sharing what was going on in our lives over a cup of coffee or tea. Before she entered their tightly packed car, I presented her with a special coffee cup of which I kept a twin. I told her that our chats would still continue, our relationship would grow and we would share the added dimension of being married women.

An equally significant life event for me was when my youngest daughter graduated from college and accepted a job in another state. This too, was a perfect opportunity for me to share a special cup with her. Our unique cups serve as a beautiful reminder to value the time we have spent together and to remember to keep in touch.

My daughters have begun their own coffee chats. And sometimes we do 3-way calling!

Coffee Chats & TeaTime Talks™

One of the most significant times in my life was helping my daughter prepare for her wedding day, despite the fact that I knew it meant a great separation of miles between us. From the time she was a little girl we had enjoyed sharing what was going on in our lives over a cup of coffee or tea. Before she entered their tightly packed car, I presented her with a special coffee cup of which I kept a twin. I told her that our chats would still continue, our relationship would grow and we would share the added dimension of being married women.

An equally significant life event for me was when my youngest daughter graduated from college and accepted a job in another state. This too, was a perfect opportunity for me to share a special cup with her. Our unique cups serve as a beautiful reminder to value the time we have spent together and to remember to keep in touch.

My daughters have begun their own coffee chats. And sometimes we do 3-way calling!

